Evidence-Based Mental Health

Contents

EBMH Notebook		Review: there is no strong evidence to support antipsychotic combination therapy in schizophrenia	53
What are the effects of drug treatments for panic disorder?.	34	* '	33
Difficulties developing evidence-based approaches in learning disabilities	37	Cognitive training may improve targeted cognitive functions in older adults	54
Resource Corner		Review: cognitive behavioural interventions may be effective for chronic fatigue syndrome and chronic back pain	55
Therapeutics		Group interpersonal psychotherapy may be as effective as group cognitive behavioural therapy for overweight people with binge eating disorder	56
Vitamin and fatty acid supplements may reduce antisocial behaviour in incarcerated young adults	41	Review: there is insufficient evidence for naltrexone maintenance treatment in opioid dependence
Once-daily atomoxetine may reduce attention deficit hyperactivity disorder symptoms in children and adolescents	42	Skills training programmes for significant others may encourage unmotivated drug users to seek treatment
Review: adderall may have a small advantage over methylphenidate in attention deficit hyperactivity disorder .	43	Prevalence
20mg transdermal selegiline daily may be effective and well tolerated in adults with major depression	44	Almost half of people suffering traumatic brain injury may later be diagnosed with axis I disorders
Review: antidepressants and psychotherapy may be equally effective for promoting remission in major depressive
disorder	45	Aetiology
Review: Low dose tricyclic antidepressants may be effective for adults with acute depressive disorder	46	Depressive symptoms in adolescence may increase the risk of psychiatric disorders in early adulthood	60
Enhanced primary care may encourage remission in depression	47	Individual and familial mental illness is associated with an increased risk of suicide in young people
Review: there is limited evidence about the effectiveness of interventions for treatment-refractory depression	48	There is little evidence that combined vaccination against measles, mumps, and rubella is associated with autism
18-month maintenance treatment with sertraline may have sustained psychosocial benefits in chronic depression	49		02
Skills training plus exposure therapy may reduce post traumatic stress in women who experienced childhood abuse.	50	Diagnosis Case-finding instruments may help identify depression in primary care	63
Fluoxetine may prevent relapse in post traumatic stress disorder	51	Qualitative
Stress management programme may reduce hospital admissions among people with schizophrenia	52	Many factors make family members caring for an elderly relative with dementia reluctant to use support services	64